Prober Suggests Mack, Whiteside Violated Law

Lawyer Cannot Explain $75,000 In Bank Account

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—A House committee chairman said today Federal Communications Commissioner Richard A. Mack and others involved in a Florida TV license case appear to have violated the law and laid themselves open to criminal penalties.

Rep. Harris (D-Ark.) made this charge during testimony by Miami lawyer Thurman A. Whiteside, who said among other things he couldn't account for $75,000 deposited in one of his bank accounts two years ago.

This was Whiteside's second day before the special House subcommittee which was set up to study the operations of federal regulatory agencies. It has been looking of late into influences exerted on members of the Federal Communications Commission.

1954 Act Recalled

Whiteside, a lifelong friend of Mack's, has testified previously that he gave the commissioner a one-sixth share in a Miami insurance firm which does business with the successful applicant for a hotly contested TV station license.

Harris said the Federal Communications Act of 1954 bars commission members from having outside business interests or from owning stock in firms which serve petitioners before the FCC.

Asked by reporters whether he thought Mack violated the law, Harris said Mack's interest in the insurance firm is a violation of the law.

$10,000 Or Year In Prison

Similarly, Harris said Whiteside seemingly violated the law by working outside of legally prescribed channels to help a National Airlines subsidiary get Miami's Channel 10 license.

In loud, emphatic tones, Harris said the penalty for violating the law is $10,000 fine or a year in prison.

Whiteside refused to concede there had been any law violation.

He said, too, he couldn't remember at the moment any details about a $75,000 payment into one of his 20 or so bank accounts in March 1956.

Whiteside said he would tell the subcommittee about the deposit after checking with his Miami office.

Test Of Navaho Ends In Blowup

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., Feb. 25 (AP)—For 20 seconds today the last of the dart-shaped Air Force Navaho intercontinental missiles climbed skyward, perched on a tail of yellow flame.

Then suddenly it lost power, arched over and plunged toward the Atlantic Ocean. Just above the water it burst into orange flame and black smoke.

This was the end of a test series composed of five air-breathing Navaho missiles. Navaho production was halted last July by the rapid progress of ballistic missiles like the 5,000-mile Atlas.

But the Air Force explained the Navaho had helped answer many of the flight problems faced by newer rocket weapons.

The Navaho is composed of a booster rocket engine and a ramjet engine. The rocket is fired first driving the missile up to supersonic speeds, then the ramjet, which operates best at very high speeds, takes over.

Since the ramjet burns its fuel with oxygen from the air, it is limited to operations within the atmosphere.

5-Cent Postal Rate Debated By Senate

Johnson Opposes, Neuberger Defends Hike

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Sen. Olin Johnson (D-SC) opened Senate debate on postal rate legislation today, urging rejection of a proposed five-cent charge on intercity letters.

Johnson thus went against the recommendations of the Senate Post Office Committee which he heads. The committee voted 7-6 for a temporary, three-year rate of five cents on non-local first class mail.

He said the rate bill's provision for increasing the basic letter rate from three to four cents goes far enough.

That in itself would mean that first-class mail would more than pay its own way he said.

"It never was intended that the Post Office Department should operate at a profit," he added.

Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore.) presented arguments designed to justify his support of the five-cent stamp. He said he had been advised by the Post Office Department that a five-cent stamp would cost the average American family not more than 20 cents a month, since it sends 10 to 12 letters a month.

"By contrast," he said, "the average American home is contributing through personal income-tax payments about $7.25 a year—or more than 60 cents a month—to pay its share of the existing 700 million postal deficit."

Some Democrats hope to tie a raise for postal workers to the rate legislation.

The House Post Office and Civil Service Committee approved bills that would give pay boosts to both postal and Civil Service workers.

Voting behind closed doors, it approved separate measures giving pay raises averaging 15 per cent to postal workers and 11 per cent to Civil Service workers. The increases would be retroactive to Aug. 25 and would cost $69 million a year.

The frozen body of a 50-year-old woman missing for 12 days was found today in a snow-covered automobile in the parking lot of a suburban shopping center.

The woman, Mrs. Florence E. Bean, mother of four, had been missing since the night of Feb. 13 when she left her home in Niskayuna, near Schenectady, to go shopping in the family car, her husband said.

TV Seen Revolutionizing Education

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 25 (AP)—Television in the classroom soon will be the most dominant force in American education. Entire schools will be remodeled or rebuilt because of it.

In a convention meeting of the American Assn. of School Administrators, Philip Lewis of the Chicago Board of Education drew a picture of the shape of things to come.

There may be no need for costly auditoriums and assembly halls. Closed circuit television can bring together, electronically, all the pupils of a school.

Libraries of the future will incorporate television techniques to eliminate books as we know them. Films, taped recordings and microfilm will take the place of bulky, heavy volumes. If a student misses a class because of illness, he can check out a film of the session, and catch up with what he has missed.

Closed circuit television will eliminate the need for costly spectator space in gymnasiums, swimming pools etc. The athletic events can be piped directly into the classrooms.

Microwave units will connect tomorrow's schools with remote locations where electronic field trips can be arranged. Places that are difficult to reach or dangerous to visit can be viewed by television. Exchange lectures and demonstrations between schools can be arranged the same way.

School laboratories will be equipped with individual viewing screens at every student's seat.

Food Prices, Cost Of Living Hit New Highs

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—The government announced today that food prices reached a record high last month, sending over-all living costs to a new peak. The increase was the biggest in 18 months.

Officials said moreover they foresaw no relief for housewives from soaring costs over the next few months.

They held out hope that heavy price cuts being felt in raw material markets—for rubber, metals, hides, wool, petroleum and lumber and so on—may trickle to the consumer level in the form of lower prices by summer or fall, and also that food may decline somewhat.

The new living cost peak was measured at 122.3 per cent of the 1947-49 average of the consumer price index. This was an increase of six-tenths of one per cent from December to January. It was the largest monthly rise since July 1956.

The figures drew a quick reaction from James B. Carey, an AFL-CIO vice president.

"We in the union movement have criticized prices arbitrarily set by big business. And the administration and its business allies have sneered," he said in a statement. "But how else can you explain rising prices in a period of sliding demand?"

Ewan Clague, Labor Department statistics chief who announced the new living cost data, had replied to the same question for newsmen earlier. He said the new rise was due mainly to a jump in food prices and said food demand hasn't lessened. Even the jobless devote most available cash to food or shelter, he said.

The new living cost jump was attributed mainly to the record freezes of Florida's winter fruit and vegetables crops, and to a low supply of meat with consequently high costs.

U.S., Tunisia Air Algeria Revolt

TUNIS, Feb. 25 (AP)—Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba said tonight the Algerian rebellion was the chief subject in his first talks with U. S. envoy Robert Murphy here to try to ease French-Tunisian relations.

"Algeria was the center of our discussion," Bourguiba said after a session of more than two hours with Murphy. "It is the key to the whole problem."

Tunisia has insisted on including Algeria in British-American "good offices" talks but France has insisted the rebellion was her own affair and should be excluded from the discussions with Tunisia.

Murphy told reporters: "We have made a step forward." He said all problems had been discussed but he did not specifically mention Algeria. He arrived here after three days of top-level talks in Washington, London and Paris.

Well informed Tunisian sources have said Tunisia would call off the U. S.-British good offices talks unless the Algerian rebellion is brought into the discussions. Tunisia then would seek help in the U. N. Security Council.

Ford Plant To Close

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 25 (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. assembly plant here will close for six days starting Friday, temporarily idling 1,100 employees.

Earlier, Ford announced it would lay off 6,000 workers at its Dearborn, Mich. plant to adjust inventories.

Paulette Goddard Wed To Remarque

BRANFORD, Conn., Feb. 25 (AP)—Actress Paulette Goddard and novelist Erich Remarque were married today in a quiet civil ceremony.

"I'm very happy," said the 42-year-old actress after she was married for the fourth time in a five-minute ceremony. It was the second marriage for Remarque, 59.

Town Judge Cornelius T. Driscoll performed the ceremony in his second floor office. The two romantically linked for several years, said they chose Branford—some 80 miles from their homes in New York City—because they wanted a quiet wedding. They said they would honeymoon in New York.

Missing Woman, Son Sought

Robert C. McHendrix turned to outside sources for help after a quiet search of the Cincinnati area failed to produce any trace of the missing woman and boy. (AP Photofax)

U.S. Arms Aid Used By French In Tunisia Raid

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Deputy Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon said today the French used some American military aid equipment in their attack on a Tunisian village. He said there "was certainly no excuse" for this.

Dillon said, in reply to questions at an administration-sponsored foreign aid rally, that the United States intends to take every precaution to make sure the French do not use military aid for such purposes in the future.

A secret report on U. S. arms aid says France diverted substantial quantities of American material to North Africa where the French are trying to subdue rebellious Algerians. Dillon did not refer to this report.

The State Department official did not identify the equipment which he said the French used in the Feb. 8 bombing raid which stirred an international storm. He presumably had in mind Corsair fighters used in the assault.

Dillon said France takes the position it has a right to use the equipment since Algeria is regarded as part of the North Atlantic Pact area which France is allowed to defend with American military aid supplies.

The secret report on arms aid was filed with Congress.

Another secret study is reported to picture U. S. aid to Spain as set so high, for political reasons, that the Spanish were getting more American F86 jet fighters than they had pilots to fly them.

Still another secret report says arms aid countries are not returning excess aid material. Another found items were headed for delivery to Japan when the same goods were being disposed of surplus by U. S. Far East forces. Pilfering of aid goods was recorded in Korea.

All these reports were in surveys given to the House Foreign Affairs Committee by the General Accounting Office. Parts of the report have just been made public.

Byrd Changes His Mind; Will Seek 5th Term

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 25 (AP)—Sen. Harry Flood Byrd (D-Va.) reversed today an announced decision to retire.

Byrd, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and a long-time advocate of fiscal conservatism, said he would seek a fifth term. He announced his decision in a message to the General Assembly of Virginia.

It quoted a statement of consent from Mrs. Byrd whose illness was given as the reason in his retirement statement Feb. 12. She has been going to Washington in an ambulance.

The message was greeted with applause in the assembly which had asked him to reconsider retirement. Gov. J. Lindsay Almond hastened to offer unqualified support. Four former Virginia governors who had joined in a request that he run again expressed gratification.

Byrd's statement to the assembly indicated he had received hundreds of letters and telegrams from individuals in Virginia and other states asking him to run again. It is known that many came from those who approve his fiscal policies and also from persons who support his "massive resistance" policy to the Supreme Court's decree for desegregation in the schools.

Moon Rocket This Year, Mars By 1970 Forecast

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—While these views were being expressed by the Air Force in the Capitol Hill session, the men whose job it is to translate Air Force ideas into actual hardware gave their own predictions at the AFA seminar.

A panel of industry missile manufacturers was polled for their guesses on when missiles, satellites and space ships would be ready.

George P. Sutton, of the Rocketdyne Division of North American Aviation, Inc. said a rocket to orbit Mars and send back information on what it sees should be possible between 1965 and 1970; a rocket to land equipment intact on the moon to radio back information could be launched this year; a satellite carrying one or two men to orbit around the earth for a short time can be ready between 1962 and 1967.

Struck On Head By Rock, Man Regains Sight

FRESNO, Calif., Feb. 25 (AP)—A rock struck John Emberton on the head while he was working on a bulldozer and sight returned to an eye that had been blind for 37 years.

The 42-year-old man was working on the Sierra farms at nearby Dos Palos.

Doctors at a Fresno hospital said the rock could have killed Emberton if it had landed an inch from where it did.

Kohler Strike Inquiry Break Appears Near

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—A break in the long deadlock on how to organize a Senate investigation of the four-year-old Kohler strike in Wisconsin appeared to be at hand tonight.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) of the special Senate Rackets Investigations Committee, set a 10:30 a. m. tentative starting time tomorrow. He wouldn't give any further information.

Sen. Ives (R-NY) vice chairman of the committee, said he and McClellan had agreed in general on terms of a compromise. The committee has been split 4-4 along party lines on how to start the testimony.

The hearings will cap months of investigation of charges voiced by the United Auto Workers and the Kohler Co., manufacturers of bathroom fixtures. Each side has blamed the other for bitter violence in the still continuing strike.

The committee's Democrats had proposed to start the hearing with testimony in which some top Kohler officials would outline the company's side, with Walter Reuther, the UAW president, to follow with the union's side.

The Republicans have been holding out to start with testimony from lesser witnesses detailing the charges, with Reuther and the company officials to be heard later.

100 Persons Rescued In Main Stem Fire

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Feb. 25 (AP)—Women fleeing beauty parlors, their hair in curlers, were among more than a hundred persons rescued over fire department ladders today from the upper three floors of a burning five-story building.

Flames, from undetermined cause, destroyed the first and second floors of the Besse building in the middle of the Main Street business district.

Smoke poured into upper floors. Shoppers, doctors, lawyers, patients, and clients fled.

One fireman was reported hurt.

Man Hacked To Death Inside Cement Mixer

CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 25 (AP)—One man was killed and another badly injured today when a cement mixing machine they had climbed inside to clean started up and the mixing blades began chopping the two.

Billy Harold Green, 19, of Largo, was pronounced dead at a hospital. Richard Payne, 24, is in critical condition.

Patrolman Bill McClelland said the two men had climbed inside the big mixer to clean it. The switch to operate the machine and start the big mixing blades is located on the outside.

Somehow—no one knows how—the switch was activated. The men were whirled about the mixer and cut by the blades. Greene had a leg severed and his abdomen slashed. Payne, a foreman, lost a foot and had multiple lacerations.

Full Support Appeal Made By President

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—President Eisenhower tonight assailed foes of foreign aid as "ostrich-like" men whose views are based on slogans, prejudices and penny-wise economy.

He termed the administration's proposed $3,942,000,000 overseas assistance program one of the "iron imperatives of security and the building of a true peace."

Eisenhower spoke out in a nationwide television-radio address climaxed a day-long conference of 1,500 representatives of national organizations who met to boost foreign aid.

Eisenhower appealed to all Americans to give fullest support to the program because of the "urgency of the times and the opportunity before us."

The President spoke at a dinner meeting attended by national leaders from all walks of life representing Democratic, Republican and independent thinking.

Eisenhower said opposition to the aid program "is based on slogans, prejudices, penny-wise economy and above all, an outright refusal to look at the world of 1958 as it really is."

Critics "Like Ostrich"

"What the ostrich-like opponents of mutual security seem to be saying," he added, "is 'billions for armament, but not one cent for peace!'"

The foreign aid rally began in the morning. At a luncheon meeting, former President Truman called on the Eisenhower administration to come forward with some new ideas to combat Russia's massive economic offensive.

And Adlai E. Stevenson, who bid for the presidency on the Democratic ticket in 1952 and 1956, challenged Russia to join the United States in a pooled effort to provide economic aid to underdeveloped nations.

Eisenhower paid tribute to Truman in noting that in the winter of 1947 U. S. economic and military aid went to work to save Greece from communism.

Referring to that emergency "Truman doctrine" program, the President said "with its help, by the fall of 1949 the number of guerrillas (in Greece) was reduced to less than a thousand and during the years that followed, the tottering (Greek) economy was restored to pre-war levels."

Not Scheduled To Meet

It was perhaps the most direct tribute Eisenhower has paid to Truman since he took office. Relations have been strained between the two men since the 1952 campaign.

Eisenhower and Truman have not met since Eisenhower was inaugurated on Jan. 20, 1953. The President was not on hand for Truman's talk, nor were they scheduled to meet tonight.

Eisenhower's speech was his second plea in less than a week for support of the administration's aid program, which faces an uphill fight in Congress.

Eisenhower said that to maintain America's military strength during the next five years—assuming no great or early change in the world situation—will make it necessary to spend more than 200 billion dollars.

Senate Delays Showdown On Potomac Gambling Bill

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 25 (AP)—A bill aimed at outlawing slot machines and other gambling establishments just off the Virginia shore of Maryland's Potomac River hit a snag today in the Senate.

By a 21-7 vote the senators decided to put off action on the measure until tomorrow.

Their action came shortly after the House of Delegates on a preliminary voice vote without expressed opposition. The real House test is expected tomorrow.

But in the Senate, Minority Leader P. H. R. (R-Somerset) pulled out all stops in a masterful demonstration of parliamentary maneuver and debate for a show-down vote.

He won two rounds by forcing the bill out of the Judiciary Committee and then beating back an attempt by opponents to bounce it back into the committee.

The opposition, however, took the third round by succeeding in delaying the showdown vote, at least until tomorrow.

Only after Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert made a dramatic appearance in the Senate chamber to give his opinion on the matter did the senators wind up a tense 40-minute debate and vote for the postponement.

The Judiciary Committee had voted yesterday to hold up any action on the bill until Sybert and legal officials in Virginia advised it on whether Virginia itself could enact legislation to eliminate a boat and six piers just off the Old Dominion shore. Gov. McKeldin of Maryland had complained that

U.S., Allies Plan Move To Break Arms Deadlock

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Russia's proclaimed intention of boycotting the United Nations Disarmament Commission may be put to the test next month.

The United States and its NATO Allies were reported near agreement on calling a March meeting of the 25-nation commission.

Then, if Russia sticks by its refusal to attend, the whole issue of breaking the deadlock which has blocked disarmament negotiations since last fall may be handed over to the U. N. Security Council.

In preparation for such moves the Eisenhower administration is expected to reassign shortly the disarmament duties performed by Harold Stassen. He resigned last week as President Eisenhower's disarmament adviser after a feud with Secretary of State Dulles over disarmament policy issues.

Diplomats understand that the task of disarmament negotiations will be given to Ambassador James J. Wadsworth. He is deputy U. S. representative at the United Nations and has worked on disarmament problems periodically since late 1953.

The primary responsibility for staff work on development of arms limitation and control policy will be assigned to one of the ranking officials in the State Department. The man most frequently mentioned for this task has been Philip J. Farley, special assistant to the secretary of state for atomic energy affairs.

The effect of the reorganization following Stassen's departure will be to give Dulles final responsibility under President Eisenhower for the development of disarmament policy from here on and the direction of all negotiations in this field.

Butler Urges Indo Plane Use Protest

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Sen. Butler (R-Md.) asked Secretary of State Dulles today to formally protest Indonesia's use of American-made warplanes against Indonesian rebels.

He sent Dulles a telegram expressing hope the administration has not earmarked any requested foreign aid funds for the Indonesian government which he called "pro-Communist."

Butler said this "would indeed be a mistake and would further jeopardize the success of the foreign aid measure."

While Butler said he had no knowledge of how the Indonesian government came into possession of the planes, he assumed they were either given to Indonesia or sold as surplus.

"Under neither circumstances was it contemplated that they be used against the anti-Communists and pro-American people of that country," Butler said.

Malone Will Head American Bar Assn.

ATLANTA, Feb. 25 (AP)—Ross L. Malone of Roswell, N. M., former deputy U. S. attorney general, was chosen today as president-nominee of the American Bar Assn.

The nomination was made by ABA state delegates attending midyear meetings of the House of Delegates here. The election will take place next August at the ABA annual meeting in Los Angeles.

The term of the president is for one year and begins with the conclusion of the annual meeting which will be Aug. 29.

Nomination traditionally is tantamount to election since the caucus selects only one nominee. Any number of candidates can be proposed in the caucus of 52 delegates sitting as a nominating conference. The election in August is by the House of Delegates of 238 members.

Hagerstown Takes Water Rate Fight To High Court

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 25 (AP)—The city of Hagerstown today asked the Court of Appeals to allow its proposed rate increase for water delivered outside the city limits.

The city boosted its rate to 60 cents per 1,000 gallons on Nov. 1, 1955, but the Washington County commissioners and the towns of Smithsburg, Williamsport and Funkstown complained to the Public Service Commission.

The PSC held two hearings on the case and fixed the rate at 43 cents. The Washington County Circuit Court upheld the commission in principle but increased the rate to 45 cents.

City attorneys David W. Byron and Edward Oswald Jr., arguing for the full increase, told the high court the PSC had made two errors.

They said it erred when it excluded from the county rate base about $287,000 worth of property donated to the city. Donated property includes water lines in developments outside the city which the city requires developers to pay for and donate to the city before water will be supplied.

Byron and Oswald also contended the commission should have fixed the "fair value" of the water property used to serve county customers at $1,900,000 instead of $1,228,564. Based on the higher figure, they said, the county would be earning only 4 per cent on its investment.

About 30 per cent of the water sold by the city goes to customers outside the city. The PSC has no control over rates charged to consumers living within city limits.

The case was the first of its kind to be heard by the high court. The appellate judges took it under advisement.

Postman Accused Of Delaying Mail

CHICAGO, Feb. 25 (AP)—A mailman in suburban Elmhurst who said he "couldn't get around to deliver all of his mail every day," appeared before a U. S. commissioner yesterday on a charge of delaying the mail.

A federal prosecutor told U. S. Commissioner C. S. Bentley Pike that mailman Frederick Riley, 35, failed to deliver more than 5,000 pieces of mail, most of it second- and third-class.

Robert F. Monaghan, assistant U. S. attorney, quoted Riley as saying he was "hoping to find time on a light day" to deliver the mail. The mail and packages were found in Riley's car when it was towed to a garage after an accident. An attendant notified the post office.

Feb. 15 Snow Removal Cost SRC $626,000

BALTIMORE, Feb. 25 (AP)—Chairman Robert O. Bonnell of the State Roads Commission estimated today that it cost the SRC $626,000 to clear Maryland highways of the Feb. 15 snowfall.

Bonnell said the figure probably will go higher when all bills are received from contractors who hired out equipment to the commission.

The cost of the snowstorm, which dumped up to 17 inches on Maryland, was almost twice as much as the combined removal cost for the previous three major storms, the chairman said.

Bonnell said SRC crews completed most of their clearing work late last week, and finished the job early this week in some isolated areas.

The greatest storm costs were in District 3, comprised of Anne Arundel, Calvert, Charles and St. Marys counties. The figure was $165,000.

Roads were cheapest to clear in the western counties of Garrett, Allegany and Washington, which make up District 6. Bonnell said that area not only received less snow than other sections of Maryland but crews are better equipped and organized for snow in that district, and consequently spent less.

Labor Calls For Defeat Of 'Right-To-Work' Bill

BALTIMORE, Feb. 25 (AP)—Maryland labor leaders united today in opposition to a bill before the current session of the Legislature which would outlaw the union shop.

And all of them were in agreement that the measure would be defeated by the General Assembly, as it has in the past. It was introduced in the House Monday by Del. Blades (D-Caroline).

Edward H. Johns, president of the Baltimore Council, AFL-CIO, which claims to represent about 100,000 workers, said:

"I have every confidence the legislators will again defeat the so-called right-to-work bill. Members of the Maryland Legislature in previous years have seen the wisdom of defeating similar measures. They realize this is not the best type of legislation for the working men and women of the state."

Passive Resistance

COLOMBO, Ceylon, Feb. 25 (AP)—Train passengers, carrying out Ghandi style passive resistance, paralyzed service to north, central and east Ceylon today.

Because several third-class passengers were arrested for traveling second class, other passengers squatted on the tracks at Ganemulla, 20 miles from Colombo.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Leaders of a bipartisan House coalition sounded advance claims of victory today in their battle against the Eisenhower administration's reciprocal trade program.

"We've got the votes to lick them," said Rep. Bailey (D-WVa.), leader of some 40 House members backing a legislative program of their own to raise tariff and quota barriers against foreign imports.

Bailey led the protectionist battle in the House in 1955, losing by a single vote. As a result, the 24-year-old Trade Agreements Act was extended three years and now once more comes up for renewal before June 30.

"They won't be able to hold the line this year," Bailey told a newsman, referring to reciprocal trade backers.

"There's too much unemployment, for one thing. Folks are getting next to them back home. And they're not going to pay attention to Mr. Rayburn or Mr. Martin or anyone else."

Bailey's reference was to House Speaker Rayburn of Texas, who personally took the floor to save Eisenhower's trade bill in 1955, and House Republican leader Martin of Massachusetts.

Damage Suit Is Filed Here

Suit was docketed in Circuit Court yesterday by the owners of a property at 8 Greene Street for damages to the building allegedly caused by blasting and excavation work on the Cumberland flood control project in Wills Creek near the Baltimore Street bridge.

Floyd Kaylor and Delores Kaylor, his wife, filed the suit against the George F. Hazelwood Construction Company, which has the flood control contract at that point in the creek and also the contract for the new bridge at Baltimore Street.

The declaration, entered in court by Edward J. Ryan, attorney for the Kaylors, states that the brick building owned by the plaintiffs was damaged in 1957, sometime prior to May, when the contractor was engaged in blasting and excavation work.

It was stated the foundation and walls of the building were cracked and plaster broken by the blasting. The Kaylors state that the building was rented to an optical firm for $90 per month and that it left the building August 12, 1957 due to the damage.

The Kaylors state it would cost $3,500 to repair the building and they are asking total damages of $7,500 from the Hazelwood firm.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Claim Your Right As A Charmer

There are several points in a woman's life when she feels a need to pull herself up short and examine her qualifications as a charmer. One is when she has just stopped being a child and longs to be a glamorous woman. The next is usually when the time comes for her to be married. Another is after she has been confined too long to duty, caring for a home and young children. At this stage, so much has been going on immediately around her that she sometimes feels that she's almost lost touch with the outside world and even with her true self.

I spoke recently with a group of earnest young housewives who had decided to meet every week and talk about themselves. Any mention of their children or household cares is taboo. They can discuss clothes, beauty, ways to improve their minds and widen their outlook, and each tries to bring a new idea to the gathering each time. A young friend of the family told me about them and I jumped at the chance to meet with them to talk things over.

Since then, I'm heartily advising this brand of selfishness for too-selfless wives and mothers. That little once-a-week group effort of those young women is doing them worlds of good.

You may be more than willing to be the busy mamspring of a family, a sturdy arm for others to lean on, but you must value yourself for yourself. As a woman, you can never be satisfied unless you can lay more to a small claim to charm. That's as it should be. Permit yourself a certain selfishness about earning it throughout your life and oddity enough, you'll have more to offer others than you could have any other possible way.

Mt. Savage Junior High Launches Spelling Bee

MT. SAVAGE — Junior High School students will participate in a spelling bee Thursday at 9 a. m. under the direction of Jack Miller, science instructor.

These matches will be held regularly once a month. Words for this month will be taken from cafeteria menus. Next month the words will be on the subject of automobiles.

A record of each student will be kept by Mr. Miller. At the end of these class contests the students with the highest totals will be in the finals. The student winning the championship will receive special recognition.

At the beginning of the week before the test a list of words which will be used will be mimeographed and given to each student to study.

The purpose of this program is to make the students spelling conscious. If this program proves successful in Junior high it might be used in Senior high also. Mr. Miller in commenting on the bee said, "A program such as this can be a great help to our students. In other high schools a similar one proved very successful."

Teachers having seventh, eighth, ninth grade students first period will administer the test.

Business men have decried the poor spellers they have found among high school graduates. They and the teachers feel that more emphasis should be placed on correct spelling. The spelling bee is just one method of trying to improve spelling in the future.

Parents Invited To Visit Beall High School Today

FROSTBURG — Miss Jane Grindel, guidance director at Beall High School, said that all parents of the present Eighth Grade at Beall had been invited to be at the school today at 2:30 p. m.

At this time, Miss Grindel will acquaint the parents with the courses offered at the school, the academic, commercial, vocational and general, so that the parents might aid their children in a selection for future years at school.

Tests now given to the students determine their interests, aptitudes, ability and achievements. With the use of these tests, guidance can be given to determine the choice of a course in which the student will be successful.

Miss Grindel also pointed out that although the plans for Wednesday are primarily for Eighth Grade parents, parents of Ninth Grade children are also welcome to attend.

Tax News Gets Worse Before It Gets Better

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 25 (AP)—Maryland's legislative financial news will get worse before it gets better, Senate Majority Leader Turnbull (D-Balto County) predicted today.

The two finance committees are to meet tomorrow with the State Board of Revenue Estimates.

Turnbull predicted they will hear that State taxes will fall 39 million instead of 38 million below the appropriations recommended by Gov. McKeldin.

This means the Legislature will be even harder put to avoid accepting a 50 per cent increase in both the sales and income taxes recommended by the governor to meet the deficit.

The legislators have been scraping away at the budget, but even the most optimistic feel that around 32 million dollars more revenue will have to be found.

The reduced revenue estimate will be based largely on the continued business recession.

While in the midst of their struggle to make the potential tax increase as easy as possible, delegates today issued an invitation for helpful suggestions.

It was aimed directly at the Commission on Government Efficiency and Economy, a self-appointed Baltimore organization.

Del. McNeal (D-Balto 3d) took issue with a recent statement by the commission that the Maryland budget is too high.

He urged the commission to appear before the House Ways and Means Committee with definite suggestions for budget cuts. He was seconded by Del. Boone (D-Balto County), chairman of the committee.

$3,250 Settlement Filed With Suit

A $3,250 settlement has been filed with a $5,000 damage suit in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Robert A. Smith, an infant, by Lee R. Smith and Eleanor V. Smith, parents and next friends, Clearville, Pa., brought the suit against Russell I. Clingerman and Ira B. Clingerman, Artemas, Pa., and Arlie E. Messersmith and Selina Messersmith, Little Orleans.

Young Smith, a passenger in the Clingerman car, was injured November 16, 1956, in a collision involving the Messersmith car on U.S. Route 40 in the Belle Grove section some 11 miles west of Hancock. The boy sustained severe lacerations of the forehead and nose, fractured right shoulder and fractured left kneecap. The declaration charged both drivers were negligent.

The compromise settlement was signed by Leslie J. Clark, attorney for the plaintiffs, and William Walsh, attorney for the defendants.

Army Tightens Requirements For Enlistment

Seven area men have been enlisted in the Army in the past week, according to M/Sgt. Wesley C. Hartley, local recruiter. Sgt. Hartley said Army requirements for enlistment are becoming more stringent and a larger percentage of men are being rejected because they cannot pass the educational requirements.

Almost every day, Sgt. Hartley said, some young man or woman seeks information about enlistments and Army careers. "It is almost useless to try to pass these tests or to make any kind of progress in the Army today," he said, "without at least a high school education and a high school diploma."

He said recruiters are urging all young people to complete their high school training, and to get as much background in mathematics, sciences, English and world history as possible. "The armed forces," he declared, "are no longer a dumping ground for people who just want to quit school or can't make the grade. Qualifications are becoming higher all the time, and those who do not have the highest qualifications find they do not progress very fast in the service," he declared.

Enlisted are Sgt. Paul S. Bittner, a veteran of eight years of Army service. He signed for three years as a television repairman and was assigned to Long Island, N. Y. He is the husband of Mrs. Mary Bittner, 207 Hay Street.

William S. Pyles, son of William E. Pyles, Fort Ashby, W. Va., a veteran of three years of their high school training, and to Army service, re-enlisted for three years and has been assigned to Fort Knox for reassignment in the Artillery.

Paul M. Moreland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver K. Moreland of Rawlings, enlisted for three years in the artillery and after basic training will be sent to Europe. He graduated from Allegany High in 1957.

Harold M. Robinette, son of Mrs. Gladys Robinette of Wiley Ford, W. Va., enlisted in the Armored Forces for three years and will be assigned to Europe.

Howard E. Bever, son of Mrs. Margaret Bever of McCoole, enlisted in the Army's Guided Missile Corps for three years.

Robert D. VanPelt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert G. VanPelt, Keyser, W. Va., enlisted for three years in the Ordnance Corps. He graduated from Bruce High in 1958 and was a member of the Keyser National Guard for two years.

Ivan L. Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver S. Campbell of Keyser, enlisted in the Artillery for three years and will be assigned to the European theatre after basic training. He graduated from Bruce High School in 1957.

Law Of The Sea And Freedom Of Space

"Every power has complete and exclusive sovereignty over the air space above its territory." So said the first international convention on air navigation, negotiated in 1919, and another international convention signed in 1944. How does this stack up with man's venturing into outer space?

Well, if this country and others try to extend their sovereignty into outer space, there will be a lot of conflicting claims. Because the earth turns on its axis, it would be rather like having everyone on a merry-go-round insisting that everything he passed belonged to him. So some distinction has to be made between air space, above a country and still in the earth's atmosphere, and outer space.

Any number of other legal questions need to be settled too, and rules of conduct laid down, before nations get to squabbling over rights up there. Sir Leslie Munro, president of the U.N. General Assembly, thinks it's eventually a matter for that body, but he suggests the experts get together first in a conference to codify the law of the sea like that in Geneva for a nine-week session.

It has been proposed that the U.N. International Law Commission, sponsor of the conference on sea law, get to work on space law too. Secretary of State Dulles has seemed to be in a hurry for action, but the State Department's legal adviser recently put up a go-slow sign. More information on outer space was needed, he said, before rules could be framed.

If sea law is any precedent, development of an acceptable code of space law is going to take a long time. The doctrine of freedom of the seas was laid down in 1609, but more than 300 years later the United States had to do some powerful arguing about it with England and the Kaiser's Germany.

Nations are still bickering over whether territorial waters should be three miles or 12 miles or 200 miles wide. Think of how much more space there is to argue about out there beyond the earth's atmosphere.

The Roosevelt Centennial

Not enough is being made of the fact that next October the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Theodore Roosevelt will be celebrated. The particular era in which we live historically starts with Theodore Roosevelt and while a younger generation may feel closer to another Roosevelt, it was Teddy who stirred the nation with his overpowering personality, his physical dynamism, his intellectual forensics and his intense nationalism.

Theodore Roosevelt was a nationalist, one who believed in America first and practised it all the time. He was President when this country was still in its up-building stage and he was unapologetic in his assertions of its strength. He talked like a warrior but kept the peace. He moved through his Presidency with pride, dignity and courage and accepted no second place for his country.

Like all Roosevelts, both the Oyster Bay and the Hudson River varieties, Theodore came of a middle class, old Dutch family, of not too great means but enormous respectability. His father had been a bond broker and Collector of the Port of New York; his mother was the daughter of Major James S. Bullock, a Confederate officer in the Civil War. Teddy went to Harvard from which he was graduated and immediately entered Republican politics on the grass-roots level. He was elected to the Assembly but his health was poor and he went west to the Little Missouri to be a cowboy on a ranch, thus establishing his love for the great outdoors.

His major interest, however, continued to be politics. He ran for Mayor of New York City but was defeated (1886). He was appointed to the Civil Service Commission where he served six years, thus getting a valuable experience which served him later when he became President.

What brought him into direct line for high office was his very dramatic career as president of the New York City Police Board. Here he established the Roosevelt personality, courageous, democratic, dramatic, independent.

The top Republican politicians in New York wanted to get Roosevelt out of their hair. They had the President appoint him Assistant Secretary of the Navy. He directed naval operations during the Spanish-American War for a while but finally organized the "Rough Riders," and served as its lieutenant colonel.

At any rate, it was the colorful Roosevelt of the "Rough Riders" who was elected Governor of New York State to the chagrin of the boss, Tom Platt. Platt immediately set about getting rid of him by having him elected to the Vice Presidency in 1900. Mark Hanna did not want Roosevelt but Teddy had by now become the most popular figure in the Republican Party. The politicians thought that they were rid of him forever, as Vice Presidents do not usually have much of a role in American life.

However, President William McKinley was assassinated and Theodore Roosevelt became President on September 14, 1901. His Administration was a lively, exciting one. Roosevelt read everything, knew everything, knew everybody. He made the White House a center of American culture. He freed the Republican Party from the bossism which held it tightly in the control of monopolistic businesses. He stimulated a public interest in government. He sent his son, Quentin, to public school in Washington and shocked the fancy people of Washington. He entertained Booker T. Washington, a Negro educator, in the White House. He is the author of the Panama Canal.

It was Theodore Roosevelt who introduced the doctrine that a labor dispute is not merely a quarrel between capital and labor, between management and labor leaders. He insisted that there is a third party to the dispute, the people, and that the government of the United States is entitled to intervene.

Teddy Roosevelt—nobody called him Theodore—was President until 1909 when his friend, William Howard Taft, succeeded him. Roosevelt went hunting in Africa, returned to edit the "Outlook" and quarrelling with Taft over basic principles, he organized the Progressive Party, better known as the "Bull Moose" and ran against Taft in 1912, thus paving the way for Woodrow Wilson to be elected President of the United States.

His career was so full of action, of effervescent living that it is not always remembered that Theodore Roosevelt was one of the most constructive Presidents in American history.

Russia Seeks To Foment Another Korean War

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The Soviet Union, aggressor in Korea, is now trying to foment another war in that area. While talking glibly of an East-West conference, the Moscow regime may be laying plans for another Korean war—this time with the hope of crushing South Korea.

The stealing of a passenger plane inside the territory of the Korean Republic is a flagrant violation of the armistice. The move was engineered as a means of starting another Korean crisis. The Communists say they will release the prisoners if the South Koreans recognize the North Korean government. This is a cruel way to deal with human lives. It means indefinite imprisonment for the innocent South Koreans and Americans who were on the plane. It's an odd way "to reduce tension," which the Moscow regime constantly avows as its purpose.

The first step was taken a few weeks ago when Premier Chou En-Lai of the Red Chinese regime in Peiping went to North Korea and arranged with the puppet government there to publicize a plan that would provide for the withdrawal of all "foreign troops" from both North and South Korea. This means, of course, that the Red Chinese troops would move back a few miles to the banks of the Yalu River while the U.N. troops presumably would get out of the Korean Peninsula altogether. Then the attack could be resumed at any moment, and it would be difficult for the U.N. troops to be shipped back promptly.

This is not a new proposal. It has been made time and again and has been rejected by the U.N. because it palpably is a strategic maneuver to take over by force of arms the South Korean republic.

The danger of war arises because the South Koreans will not hesitate to fight if there is the slightest evidence of military action by the Reds.

The Soviet government will be responsible for the second Korean War even as it was responsible for the first Korean War. The United States government holds the Moscow government to blame for aggression in Korea. One document issued by the United States government through the Department of Defense on May 15, 1954, needs to be re-read at this time. It was issued in Washington during the Foreign Ministers' Conference in Geneva at which "unification" of Korea under U.N. auspices was rejected by Red China and the Soviet Union. The American statement said in part:

"General Communist aggression in Korea began in 1950, but the preparations for it began under the 38th Parallel in 1945, when Russian occupation forces moved in.

"Among their first preoccupations was the creation of a North Korean Army. While they were directly occupying the country, they recruited, organized and equipped local forces. After those forces reached a degree of strength that could allow the Russians to remove their own occupation forces, they did so. But first they created a hand-picked, puppet regime controlled by Russian citizens of Korean ancestry.

"This puppet regime continues the military buildup with Russian help in materials and training personnel. When the North Korean Army had reached a degree of strength which indicated it could conquer all of Korea, the Russians gave it the signal for the attack across the 38th Parallel.

"And when this army failed to gain its objective despite its great initial superiority over defending forces, the Chinese came to its rescue, and Russia continued to give support in material, advisory personnel, antiaircraft units and strategic counsel to the Chinese and North Koreans. . . .

"Again, when the tide of battle turned against the North Koreans and the Chinese entered the conflict and stayed in it for more

Healthy Men Unharmed By Life At South Pole

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

"Man can take the worst the world can offer in cold weather when physically fit and emotionally stable." This conclusion appeared in an exclusive interview in Scope Weekly with Navy Lt. Howard C. Taylor III on his return from the South pole.

Medical units spent a winter in Antarctica where the temperatures were 70 to 90 or more degrees F. below zero day after day. They recorded the effects of the bitter cold and isolation and behavior of a small group of navy men. According to Lt. Taylor, the older men endured the stress of hard work in extreme cold better than younger men.

In his opinion, the ideal age for a polar group is between 30 and 45 years. They are better able to live together in small, closely confined groups lacking normal outlets.

Cold drinks such as iced tea were more popular as thirst quenchers than hot fluids.

An average loss of 15 pounds occurred among the men. It was blamed on the monotony of the diet. Imagination was lacking and in addition, the facilities for cooking and the variety of foods are limited. Chow consisted mainly of dehydrated and canned foods.

The popular period was the "happy hour" on Saturday night when cocktails were served. Lt. Taylor was impressed with the value of small amounts of alcohol as a morale booster. This interval leveled off most of the unpleasanties of living close together.

"Cliques vanish. Petty grievances melt away. It is a plow which turns over fresh soil for friendship to grow and buries old dirt." There was no excessive drinking, as the total consumption was 4 to 6 ounces of alcohol per man per month.

What does it feel like to stand outside for 12 minutes when the temperature is 102.1 degrees below zero? There was no adverse effect even though no extra clothing was worn except caps and gloves. Transitory pains in the joints and toothache were a common aftermath of prolonged exposure.

Ike Doesn't Heed Public Reaction; Hagerty's Headaches Increase

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Newsmen covering the President were a bit rough with Jim Hagerty over Ike's 3,000-mile detour to take Mamie and two friends to Elizabeth Arden's slimming resort in Arizona. But you can't entirely blame Jim. The astute and agile White House press secretary has been having one of the roughest times of his five years in office.

Reason is that his boss has been more crotchety of late and much less concerned about public opinion. For a long time Gen. Eisenhower was more hep to public relations than any recent President, and completely agreeable to Hagerty's suggestions. But lately he hasn't been. Perhaps it's because this is his last term and he's tired of worrying too much about what the public thinks.

Hagerty was fully aware of the bad public reaction to taking Mamie and sister-in-law Mrs. Ellis Slater on a slimming detour for which commercial airlines charge $1,200. But he had nothing to say about it.

He knew of course that Mrs. Gordon Moore, the President's sister-in-law, was right in the public eye as a result of Col. Moore's name being involved in the Congressional investigation of Channel 10 in Miami. Col. Moore has also been mentioned in connection with the CAB award of a route to his old firm, Trans-Caribbean Air Lines, and in connection with deals with Dominican Dictator Trujillo.

Mrs. Ellis Slater is also not the most politic guest to take on a free trip, because her husband, former head of Frankfurt Distilleries, a Seagram's subsidiary, is given credit for helping influence the oil leasing of the Lacassine Wildlife Refuge in Louisiana. This lease was given by the Eisenhower Administration to Slater's subsidiary company, Frankfurt Oil Company, and set a new precedent for oil leasing on government wildlife preserves. Prior to this, Democrats Harold Ickes and Oscar Chapman, as Secretaries of the Interior, had zealously refused to permit oil companies to lease game refuges.

Republican subordinates in the Interior Department also vigorously opposed opening up the Lacassine preserve to Slater's oil company but they were overruled from on top.

Ellie Slater contributed $2,500 to Eisenhower's re-election campaign last year and has been one of his closest bridge-playing partners. He was with him most of the time at a Thomasville, and is a member of the exclusive group which built the Augusta golf quarters for the President at no expense to him.

Mrs. Elizabeth Arden, who is giving Mamie and friends the non-paying guest treatment at her Arizona slimming-resort, also contributed $2,500 to Ike in 1956.

Not Afraid of Texans.

The reason why forthright Senator Margaret Chase Smith of Maine quietly resigned from the GOP Senate Campaign Committee over the $100,000 from that Texas Joe Martin dinner was very simple. She remembered how Texas money had reached al. the way up to Maine and bank-rolled an opponent to run against her in the Republican primary in 1954.

He was Robert L. Jones, who received contributions from Texas oilmen including Douglas Marshall, son-in-law of Roy Cullen. Another Cullen son-in-law, Corbin Robertson, was a sponsor of the dinner for Joe Martin, also a sponsor of a similar dinner given to Democrat Lyndon Johnson. Mrs. Smith also knew that Vic Johnson, who really runs the GOP Senate Campaign Committee for the re-election of senators, is hand-in-glove with Texas oilmen and was suspected of financing opposition to her.

That's why Mrs. Smith not only resigned from the committee but remarked privately to friends:

"Those rich Texans not only want to keep their money through oil depletion allowance, and make the rest of us pay extra taxes, but they also send their money all over the country to defeat Senators who don't agree with them. They want to make the Senate of the United States a rubber-stamp for Texas."

Truman-Go-Round

Harry Truman speeded up his recent speech so much to get within his allotted TV time that most people didn't notice an indirect but deliberate crack he took at Sen. Lyndon Johnson and Speaker Sam Rayburn's boycott of the Democratic Advisory Committee. Truman went out of his way to quote from the Committee's policies which Johnson and Rayburn have refused to participate in. . . . Adlai Stevenson made one of the best speeches of his career at the big Democratic po-wow. Only trouble was that half of the Democrats present were listening to boring platitudes from Rayburn and Johnson in the other banquet room. . . . Net impression you got from the big Democratic shindig was that Adlai Stevenson is still head and shoulders above the other candidates, but he can never be elected for one very simple reason: old-line Democratic leaders won't get out and work for him.

Here are some of the Trumanisms that sent Democrats almost rolling in the aisles: "The administration is acting like an overbearing bantam with a glass eye" . . . "What are the unemployed betting on? More important, what are they betting with?" . . . "They cut out the stream pollution program. Let 'em drink dirty water, they said. The Republicans buy bottled water anyway" . . . "This administration had a lot of trouble getting the satellite off the ground. It had no trouble shooting the cost of living into outer space" . . . "Whenever the press quotes accusing me, then I know I'm in the wrong pew." . . . Chairman Ed Foley, introducing Truman, said: "You were never contradicted by a cabinet member one week and then went quiet shooting with him the next week."

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

The doctors are angry. You can always tell when a man of medicine is upset because he asks his wife to write a letter. The letters have been coming in from wives (mothers, too) and they say that I am harsh on doctors and hospitals when I say that their primary concern is to get rich. One doctor in St. Louis, who wrote his own letter, says that I "fabricate."

He means lie. He also says that most doctors are "humble" and that I am not. Permit me to cop a plea on the second count. I am not humble. Inside of me there is enormous pride in my craft. At one time or another, I have worked almost every job on a newspaper, on a national magazine, in book publishing. I have failed in some of the jobs, and I have some competence in others. The things I do well I do with pride.

The doctor says that I confuse doctors with hospitals. I don't think so. I should know the difference. I was the first press agent the Hudson County Medical Society of New Jersey ever had. Then, too, I have been writing medical articles for magazines for a number of years. I am completely unconfused.

Most doctors are undercover politicians. They jockey among themselves for position in their own medical societies. They fear each other and they fear the big men who run the hospitals. Most of the G.P.'s are egotists who feel that they know more about law than the lawyers and more about betting than the bookies and more about writing than the authors and more about emotional problems than the psychiatrists.

One doctor says that if a surgeon sends a bill for $350 for a three-hour operation, it should be paid without shock. He has put his finger on the reason why most of us pay without question: we are so happy to see a loved one come safely through an illness or an operation that, even when the bill is beyond our means, we pay and pay gladly.

This doesn't make it right. The fee should fit the purse. Some cannot pay $100. On the other hand, one with my kind of income should pay $1,000. My argument is that the doctors preach this kind of economic philosophy, but they do not practice it.

Most of them run the office like a factory. The patient comes in at the appointed time, sits and waits and looks at other dismal people, and is admitted late with no apology from the doctor. Let the patient arrive a half hour late and let us see what happens.

Once in the office, the doctor runs through a card index, listens to the complaint with impatience, answers three phone calls, makes a hurry-up examination, writes a prescription, and tells the patient to come back next week. At, of course, another $5 fee.

Do I know doctors? Once I wrote a little human interest yarn on an old doctor who was retiring. He was a good man and I think he represented all that is noble in medicine. He plied his trade in a horse and rig in 1902. All he owned was in a little black bag. He got out of bed at all hours of the night and he took his fees out of the kitchen ice box.

What happened? When the story was published, I received a host of calls from medical society darlings who wanted to know if I was nuts, writing about an old man who was on the way out. Why didn't I write stories about younger doctors — them, for instance?

Doctors are among the more adroit income tax dodgers. Much of their business — in common with headwaiters and cab drivers — is in cash and I never met a doctor who overestimated his income. Conversely, they are suckers for get-rich-quick schemes and will buy into the most outlandish projects in an effort to augment their fat incomes.

If any of this gives you a notion that I am the sworn enemy of doctors, you are wrong. It was a young and dedicated doctor named Bernard A. Krull who kept my mother alive three years after every one else, including mom, gave up. It was an older man, Joel Feldman, who fought hour by hour to save my wife's life.

No, I understand their function. The trouble is — they don't.

The doctor in St. Louis who said that I "fabricate" is right. In the original column I wrote about doctors, I typed a deliberate lie to see how many medical men would draw my attention to it. I wrote that it costs $50,000 to educate a doctor. It doesn't. It costs $30,000.

Not one doctor squawked about the lie.

Cuban Police Guard Joe Brown For Havana Fight

Champ Faces Echevarria In Bout Tonight

Precautions Taken To Prevent Rebels Sabotaging Scrap

By LARRY ALLEN

HAVANA, Cuba, Feb. 25 (AP)—Red-faced Cuban police threw a heavy guard around world light-weight champion Joe Brown of New Orleans today, vowing Fidel Castro's rebels won't succeed in any attempt to break up his 10-round bout tomorrow night.

The non-title fight is one of the major sporting events of the Cuban tourist season and is to be televised to the United States at 10 p. m. EST. It also marks the opening of a new, two million dollar sports arena.

Extra precautions are being taken by police because of the rebel coup Sunday night in kidnapping the world champion auto racing driver Juan Manuel Fangio of Argentina. The rebels' aim was to disrupt yesterday's $10,000 Gran Premio race, and embarrass the regime of President Fulgencio Batista before the sports world.

Fangio Is Unharmed

Fangio was released unharmed after the race came to a tragic end. It was called off when one of the cars skidded on oil and plunged into a crowd of spectators. Four Cubans were killed instantly and two others died later in hospitals. Thirty-two persons were injured.

Race officials said their technicians eliminated all suspicion of sabotage and claimed the oil on the course had seeped from the 27 racing cars. But some of the drivers said the track was slicked down with oil, apparently by Castro's rebels.

Any rebel attempt to sabotage Brown's bout with Cuban tist Orlando Echevarria would be bound to have a big effect in the United States because of plans for televising it. Cuban police officials promised that anything like the kidnapping of Fangio won't happen again.

Guarded By Police

Wherever Brown went in Havana he had policemen with him. Brown himself doubted the rebels would attempt to kidnap him. He said he had received no threats.

"I don't expect any," he said. "Anyway, there's plenty of police around and I am being watched all the time." Brown is staying in the same hotel from which Fangio was kidnapped at gunpoint. Guards have been placed at Brown's door. Similar protection has been given Echevarria.

The fight is expected to draw 15,000 to 18,000 spectators in the sprawling, new indoor sports city.

Seattle And Loyola Selected By NCAA

(By The Associated Press)

Seattle and Loyola of New Orleans gained at-large berths in the NCAA major college basketball tournament Tuesday. Their selection increased to 11 the number of teams certain of participating in next month's 24-team competition.

Seattle (16-5) and Loyola (15-4) joined Oklahoma State, Notre Dame, Pitt, Manhattan and Boston College as at-large selections. Sixteen conference titleholders qualify automatically. Temple, Connecticut, Kentucky and Idaho State are the only teams which have clinched championships so far.

Nothing was heard from the National Invitation Tournament selection committee which thus far has named St. Bonaventure, Niagara, Dayton, St. Peter's (N.J.), Fordham and St. John's (Bkn). The 12-team tournament will start March 13 in Madison Square Garden.

Mantle, MacPhail Meet Third Time

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 25 (AP)—Mickey Mantle and New York Yankees' personnel director Lee MacPhail will meet for the third time tomorrow in an effort to get the slugging outfielder's name on a contract.

"I'll make an effort to sign him before he's due to be in uniform Thursday morning," MacPhail said today.

Mantle, the American League's most valuable player the past two years, is believed to be seeking $75,000, which represents a raise of $25,000.

Yardley Needs 169 To Top Mikan Mark

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (AP)—George Yardley, jump-shot specialist of the Detroit Pistons, needs 169 points to break the all-time National Basketball Assn. scoring record set by George Mikan in 1951.

Yardley scored 139 points last week, giving him 1,764 for the year. He has averaged 27.1 points for 65 games and has only to average 24.1 points in his remaining seven games to eclipse Mikan's mark. Mikan's total was 1,932.

SPORTS GRILL

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (INS)—There is an old saying around the race tracks that weight will stop a freight train. This is another way of saying that any plater could have beaten Man O'War if enough weight was put on the old champion.

Human racers are never asked to carry certain weights but there are handicap races where some of the palukas get certain number of yards start on the scratch man.

Such handicaps, of course, are never used in championship events. But there is still another way to beat even the greatest of runners if he will compete in two gruelling events run close together.

A year ago Ron Delany, the Irish feather-footed star from Villanova, forsook his favorite mile which he was a 1 to 100 choice to win, to help his college win the I.C. 4-A title by winning two events.

He therefore undertook the amazing task of running the 1,000-yard event and coming back only an hour later to run the two mile. The fact that he succeeded is a tribute to Delany's greatness.

At the I.C. 4-A championships in Madison Square Garden this Saturday Jumbo Jim Elliott, Villanova coach, hopes to have Delany duplicate last year's feat.

But this time somebody stacked the deck on Delany, for the 1,000-yard race and the two mile gallop are scheduled to be run only half an hour apart.

If Delany can win both again he must indeed be a superman. Many experts feel he will fail under the conditions but we'd hate to bet against him.

The Irish lad is in superb condition after running Istvan Rozsavolgyi, Hungarian world record holder at 1500 meters, into the ground in a 4:03.7 mile that missed the indoor mark by only one tenth of a second.

The I.C. 4-A is the most colorful of all meets. Flags of the 48 competing colleges are draped in front of the boxes around the arena and the wildest cheering comes from the athletes themselves as they exhort each other in the various events.

The fans keep track of the scoring and a point or two for placing behind the winner can be extremely important. Villanova faces a stiff challenge from Manhattan and from Notre Dame, making its debut in the I.C. 4-A. Various coaches say 25 points may win the team title. That is why the 10 points Delany could pick up by winning two events are so important.

Villanova should win the 60 yard dash with Ed Collymore, who has equalled the world record for the event, and should take the high jump with Phil Reaves. Others, such as sprinter George Sydnor, should pick up a point or two here and there.

Brennan Widens Lead In Scoring

GREENSBORO, N. C., Feb. 25 (AP)—Pete Brennan of North Carolina scored 61 points in two games last week to widen his lead over Atlantic Coast Conference individual scorers.

ACC Service Bureau figures through games of last Saturday night show Brennan far ahead with an average of 21.3 points per game, with Virginia's Herb Busch a not-too-secure second at 16.9. Sophomore Dave Budd of Wake Forest, who has been gaining for a month, is just 3 of a point behind Busch and has moved ahead of North Carolina's Tommy Kearns to claim the No. 3 position.

Pastrano Win In London Go Boomed By Fans

Referee Declares American Victor

LONDON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Willie Pastrano of New Orleans, tonight won a decision over England's Brian London in a 10-round heavy-weight fight.

Referee Bill Williams, who in England is the sole judge, was booed by the 10,600 in sold-out Harringay Arena in raising the American's arm.

Pastrano, a fancy boxer with little punch, appeared to be heading straight for a tremendous upset at the hands of the wild swinging Englishman.

But with a darting, flesh cutting left jab the American evened the count in the late rounds. Pastrano weighed 187½ pounds, London 204½.

The Associated Press score card gave the Englishman six rounds, Pastrano four.

When the referee raised Pastrano's hand the big crowd booed for five minutes after the fight.

Pastrano, 22, fourth - ranking heavyweight in the world, wasn't expected to get much opposition from the unranked, 23-year-old Briton. A crude slugger, London entered the fight with a record of 20 victories and two defeats. He had 17 knockouts to his credit.

It was Willie's second fight in London. He received rave notices from the British press for his easy triumph over Welshman Dick Richardson in the same Harringay Arena, last Oct. 22.

Market Continues To Sag; Late Support Cuts Losses

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (AP) — The stock market declined today for the fifth day running but late support developed which cut losses and established some gains.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped 30 cents to $158.30, with the industrials down 50 cents, the rails down 60 cents and the utilities up 10 cents.

Gold mining stocks again were favored. They rose as financial analysts recommended them as good defensive hedges at a time when the economy is troubled. Aircrafts, coppers, rails and radio-televisions remained lower.

Lorillard topped a market favorite, continuing the most active list on sales of 43,000 shares. It rose 1 1/2 to 42 1/2. Second was Standard Oil (NJ) up 1/4 at 47 1/2, on 31,900 shares. Third was Amgen, unchanged at 21 on 27,000 shares.

Next came Royal Dutch, up 1/4 at 38, and General Motors, unchanged at 34 1/2. Volume totaled 1,920,000 shares.

Most actively traded of the gold mining stocks was Dome Mines, up 1 at 15 1/2, on 21,900 shares, followed by Campbell Red Lake, up 1/2 at 8 1/2, on 20,100 shares. Homestake rose 1 1/2.

Coal Miners' Pay Bill Killed By Committee

'Shotgun' Measure, Says Del. Berry

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 25 (AP)—A House committee today killed a bill which would have required coal mine operators to post bond to guarantee payment of wages to their employees.

Members of the Agricultural and Natural Resources Committee unanimously branded it as a "bad bill" and voted to hold it with an unfavorable report.

They expressed a fear it would set a precedent for other industries and businesses in the state.

The measure, sponsored by Del. Reed (R-Allegany), was backed by the United Mine Workers as an attempt to force small operators to pay wages.

Says Miners Fleece

John L. Mayo, president of the UMW's District 16, told the committee, that "hundreds of miners in the two coal producing counties (Allegany and Garrett), have lost untold wages because fly-by-night operators open a mine for 30 days to two months and then chisel workers out of their wages."

Mayo said by custom the payday at such a mine doesn't come due for 30 days after it has been opened.

"The operator finds it convenient to convince the men that he hasn't received money for the coal, pays them a little, continues the operation for another month and then closes."

He said a miner has no recourse to gain payment since the operator has no tangible assets.

Members tried to get specific figures on how many such cases exist. "Practically all small operators chisel men out of their wages in the final analysis," Mayo said.

He said the intent of the bill was to require them to post bond equivalent to their payroll for 30 days with the state labor commissioner before going into operation.

"Unjustifiable Burden"

Del. Berry (R-Allegany) called the measure "a shotgun bill" which would affect all operators and said it could put a large company in the position of tying up its capital for a year, instead of 30 days.

He read a letter from William S. Jenkins, secretary-treasurer of Consolidated Fuel Co. in Allegany County, saying the bill would "impose a heavy and unjustifiable burden on the coal industry."

"I heartily agree that all employees should be paid in full the amounts due them, but I fail to see any reason for imposing such a burden only on the coal mining business," Jenkins said.

Berry said Consolidated, Maryland's largest operator, has never failed to meet a payroll.

Del. Hickman (D-Worcester) and committee chairman White (D-Wicomico) expressed fear the bill would set a precedent for small industries in other areas. They and Del. Porter (R-Washington) threatened to exempt their counties from the bill, making it unconstitutional as a statewide measure at this short session of the Legislature.

Firemen Stage Fire Training Demonstration

Bowmans' Addition volunteer firemen combined a fire training session with a good community deed last night when they helped a resident of the community clear a section of land for a roadway.

Chief Leo Emerick and nine men participated in the program. Chief Emerick said an area was raked and cleared around the section of brush, tall grass and scrub material to be burned. Fires were started so as to serve as back fires, while various types of extinguishers were used from time to time to show the effect on flames.

The clearing-study operation took about two and a half hours, Chief Emerick stated.

Within the next few weeks, the fire company will conduct an all-day program, showing how fire can be safely used to clear away old and undesirable structures, and at the same time to give the volunteers an opportunity to study extinguishing methods and safety factors.

He explained that a resident has an old barn on his property, which is snake-infested and no longer desirable. Firemen have agreed to burn it as part of their fire safety training.

The firemen had a large sign posted at last night's operation which read "Fire Training Program," so that residents and neighbors would not be alarmed, Chief Emerick said.

Tonight, a class in first aid will be graduated at the fire hall, and plans will be made for starting an advanced course in Red Cross first aid immediately. Lamar Minnick, president of the company, noted.

Citizens To Meet

The Senior Citizens Club, sponsored by the City Recreation Department, will meet Thursday at 2 p. m. at the Elks Home, South Centre Street. The program will be in the form of a "World Tour Party."

It Would Have Been Safer In The Air

The above wreckage of a four-place Waco was caused yesterday morning at the Municipal Airport when gusts of wind up to 45 miles an hour blew into this area. Owned by John Harden of Rockville, the airplane had been tied down outside the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company hangar with rope. The anchoring rope broke under the strain of the wind and the plane flipped upside down and was carried about 25 feet behind the hangar. Looking over the wreckage are Vernon Browning of 804 Michigan Avenue and E. W. Koch Jr., of 119 Mary Street. Harden had brought the plane here to get an estimate on some minor repairs.

A move to amend House Bill 119 to make it more acceptable to the U.S. Route 40 Association will be made by the combined delegations of Allegany and Garrett counties at a hearing at 10:30 a. m. today before the House Ways and Means Committee.

Earl E. Manges, attorney for the Route 40 group, said he will be at the Annapolis meeting this morning when the House Ways and Means Committee holds a hearing on all house bills concerning the State Roads Commission.

Senators and delegates from Allegany and Garrett counties all have pledged their support to two proposed amendments to House Bill 119, introduced by Delegate A. Gordon Boone, Baltimore County Democrat, last week. This bill would expedite work on much-needed Maryland road improvements.

The Western Maryland legislators agreed Monday at a meeting with Mr. Manges that it would be virtually impossible to introduce any new road legislation this late in the 30-day session.

The first amendment for which Mr. Manges will press concerns the method of exchanging projects within a county. As it now reads the exchange is on a basis of mileage, plus or minus ten per cent. The Route 40 group favors making the exchange on the basis of the amount of money earmarked for a project because the cost per mile differs in this mountainous area depending on the terrain.

The second amendment would make it mandatory for the SRC to exchange the order of projects within any county when such exchange is backed by a majority of the county commissioners, delegates and senator. Presently, such a recommendation is only advisory.

The principal recommendation, Mrs. Wood explained, was the formation of youth commissions in the various counties.

Mr. Baron, master of ceremonies, introducing Mrs. Wood; Maurice O. Hunt, Baltimore, chief of bureau of the Child Welfare Department of the State Department of Welfare; and Magistrate for Juvenile Causes Fred H. Anderson.

Mr. Anderson, stressing the need of the commission in Allegany County, told of the sharp rise in delinquency here in the past year, noting that there were 43.3 per cent more children before his court in 1957 than in 1956.

Kimble supported the Turnbull bill in behalf of the department's advisory council, and he said he was personally in favor of the bill to extend the benefit limit from six to nine months.

Kimble said the See bill would carry out the spirit and intention of the unemployment law—to provide economic security for persons out of work through no fault of their own.

He said the department is paying out about $1,500,000 a week in benefits and "several thousand" claimants have already exhausted their 26-week eligibility, but he said about two-thirds of the companies making major layoffs have indicated the furloughs are temporary.

94 Persons Attend City Hall Meeting

The basic responsibility of the local community and its need for a central youth commission was stressed last night at a meeting set up by the Coordinating Council of Child Welfare Agencies of Allegany County at City Hall.

The 94 persons from various county and state agencies interested in the formation of an Allegany County Youth Commission to aid the Maryland Commission for the Prevention and Treatment of Juvenile Delinquency were told that immediate action is needed to prevent, cure and find the causes of problems of today's youth.

Summing up the meeting, Morris Baron, local attorney who was in charge, said "All of us have to join hands to accomplish anything." He then set March 25 as the next meeting date, at which time officials hope to form the county youth commission, elect officers and organize for the future.

Mrs. William H. Wood, Baltimore, vice chairman of the state commission, explained how the group reviewed all fields and determined it was necessary to get help from people of all communities.

She said two conferences by the state commission brought some 300 recommendations from various committees of the commission and that the body set up a priority of the most important recommendations needed for immediate action.

The state commission also broke its group into seven action committees, including one for legislation, one for community service, a youth committee and four others to push the top recommendations of the commission.

The principal recommendation, Mrs. Wood explained, was the formation of youth commissions in the various counties.

Mr. Baron, master of ceremonies, introducing Mrs. Wood; Maurice O. Hunt, Baltimore, chief of bureau of the Child Welfare Department of the State Department of Welfare; and Magistrate for Juvenile Causes Fred H. Anderson.

Unemployment Pay Bills Meet Opposition

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 25 (AP)—Industry representatives appearing before a Senate committee today registered strong opposition to two proposals for liberalizing Maryland's unemployment compensation law.

One measure, sponsored by Sen. See (R-Allegany), would increase from 26 to 39 the number of weeks eligible persons may receive unemployment benefits.

No state provides compensation in excess of 26 weeks, but federal legislation has been proposed to require all states to extend the benefit limit to 39 weeks.

The other proposal, sponsored by Sen. Turnbull (D-Balto), would add three additional income brackets at the low end of the eligibility schedule.

Robert B. Kimble, director of the Department of Employment Security, said the See bill might require a considerable increase in employers' contributions to the unemployment fund, but he said the other bill would amount to only "a drop in the bucket."

Kimble supported the Turnbull bill in behalf of the department's advisory council, and he said he was personally in favor of the bill to extend the benefit limit from six to nine months.

Myers Is Demo Candidate For Sheriff

Orr Is Tenth For Commissioner

A second Democratic candidate for Allegany County office and the tenth official Republican candidate for county commissioner both paid their $25 filing fees yesterday at the office of the County Board of Election Supervisors.

Clarence C. "Pete" Myers, RFD 5, Winchester Road, filed as a Democratic candidate for sheriff subject to the May 20 primary election. The only other official Democratic candidate is James P. Russell, Mt. Savage, for county commissioner.

Mr. Myers is a former Celanese policeman and has been employed more recently by Donald McGill, contractor.

James Orr, 544 Fairview Avenue, this city, filed yesterday for a third term as county commissioner subject to the Republican primary May 20. He was the tenth officially in the race. Okey Michael, mayor of Westport, became the ninth candidate with his filing Monday.

The other GOP candidates for county commissioner are W. A. Strother, this city; Louis V. Shinnaman, LaVale; Charles N. Hill, Frostburg; William A. Wilson, Midland; Harold L. Drew, Carlos; Robert C. Hohing, Frostburg, and Simeon W. Green, Frostburg.

There are indications that at least 12 Republicans will be in the wide-open fight for the three county commissioner nominations. Observers are of the opinion that the three successful candidates may win with no more than about 30 to 35 per cent of the total Republican vote.

Back in 1954 at the last county primary election, 12,019 of the 22,370 registered Republicans went to the polls. The three successful candidates then, in a field of eight, had between 43.7 per cent and 40.2 per cent of the total Republican vote.

Charles N. Wilkinson, the leader, had 5,252 or 43.7 per cent. William H. Lemmert was second with 4,967, or 41.3 per cent of the total Republican vote, and James Orr was third with 4,834 or 40.2 per cent.

Unsuccessful then were James Holmes, 4,535; Simeon W. Green, 3,939; Virgin Alexander, 2,649; J. William Beck, 1,923, and Manson M. Durr, 918.

Infirmiry Job Fund Status Is Requested

Wilkinson Writes For Food Data

County Commissioner C. N. Wilkinson yesterday sent two letters to obtain information concerning the availability of state and federal matching funds for an addition to the County Infirmiry and concerning the possible re-instatement of the surplus foods program for Allegany County.

The infirmiry letter was addressed to Dr. Perry F. Prather, director of the State Department of Health.

Mr. Wilkinson is asking Dr. Prather whether federal matching funds are still available for the possible expansion of the nursing home and chronic disease hospital unit at the County Nursing Home and Infirmiry and if any state funds are provided in the 1958-59 budget to finance such an expansion.

The county commissioner recalled in his letter that in December 1956 Dr. Prather advised him that one-third of the construction and equipment cost of such a project would be provided by the federal government. He also indicated that the State Health Department would request $100,000 in state funds in the 1957-58 budget. That would leave only one-third of the cost to be borne from county funds.

After receiving the 1956 letter from Dr. Prather, Mr. Wilkinson introduced a resolution calling for a $100,000 county bond issue to finance the county's one-third of the cost of the proposed infirmiry expansion. However, this died for want of a second.

The county commissioner's surplus foods letter went to Edward L. Vogelmann, supervisor of the donable food program, with headquarters in Baltimore.

Mr. Wilkinson explained to Mr. Vogelmann that he had received numerous inquiries from citizens of Allegany County concerning the possibility and advisability of reinstating a surplus food program in this county.

"For varying periods of time in recent years, the county commissioners have accepted responsibility for the administration of a surplus foods program in this county," Mr. Wilkinson wrote. "The program was well received and provided real assistance to local residents temporarily in need."

"Curtailed employment in this area prompts me to request to be advised by your office of the types and quantities of surplus foods that are now available for distribution and of the possibility of re-instating a local surplus foods program," he concluded.

Missing Boys Are Located In Alabama

Two local 14-year-old boys, missing from their homes since last week, have been located in Alabama, according to city police, who also report a 15-year-old Negro girl has been missing from her home since February 13.

City Police Detective Lieutenant James E. Van said yesterday he was notified by the father of one of the missing boys that they were being held by police in Selma, Ala.

The father plans to go to Alabama to bring the boys back home. They are James Brinkman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brinkman, 418 Columbia Street, and Charles Brottemarkle, son of Mrs. Goldie Brottemarkle, Jane Frazier Village.

Meanwhile police continue an investigation into the disappearance of Mary Lee, 15, of 300 North Centre Street. Her mother notified Lieutenant Van yesterday that the girl is still missing. She said she has contacted relatives in an effort to locate her girl, who left home the night of February 13.

She is five feet one inch tall, weighs 120 pounds, and when last seen was wearing blue jeans, short gray coat and hood, and black boots.

Lonaconing Man Will Run For House Seat

Warnick To Seek GOP Nomination

Harry T. Warnick, who resides near Lonaconing, announced last night that he will be a candidate for the House of Delegates from Allegany County, subject to the May 20 Republican primary election.

He was one of ten children of the late Harry G. Warnick and Mrs. Mary (Timney) Warnick, who still resides at Moscow. His father was a coal miner and was killed in a mine near Barton in 1926. Harry, who was only 14 at the time, started working shortly after his father's death in the old Lonaconing silk mill, where he was employed six years.

Mr. Warnick is married to the former Agatha Colmer, who also was born near Moscow. They have five sons and a daughter.

The latest announced candidate for the House of Delegates is president of the Lonaconing Rotary Club and for the past 13 years has been treasurer of the Lonaconing Republican Club. He lives on a small dairy farm at Gilmore.

In this, his first campaign for public office, the Moscow native says he will abide by the Rotary four-way test in his campaign. This Rotary test asks four questions. They are (1) Is it the truth? (2) Is it fair to all concerned? (3) Will it build good will and better friendship? and (4) Will it be beneficial to all concerned?

He is interested in the Boy Scout movement and is an active member of the Rotary Club's troop committee. The club sponsors Troop 26.
